TONOPAH THE INEXHAUSTIBLE.

FOR five years numerous pessimists have been engaged in an attempt to deny the merits of Tonopah. They have been declaring that the best days of the camp have been experienced and that the future held nothing more than a few dumps which might be cleaned up with more or less profit to the owners. This outcry gained such proportions that it gave evidence of developing into a lousy chorus with the hammer brigade playing an orchestral accompaniment. These pessimistic utterances, which gained wide circulation have been positively controverted by an array of facts developed year after year. Nevertheless the slanders have been kept in motion in spite of the growing production of the camp and the enormous sums of money placed in new development. The disclosure of yesterday in the western district serves to emphasize the prediction that in that section of the district Tonopah may be rewarded with richer and better ore bodies than have been opened at any previous time in the history of the camp. It has been said that discoveries come in cycles and that one rich find is almost sure to be followed by another and this well known theory has been sustained once more. Less than 60 days ago the Monarch Pittsburg brought in an ore body that gives promise of producing a vast tonnage. Then came the Ohio shaft of the West End company, situated on the California claim, which entered the shipping lists last week by sending out several trial shipments which competent authorities say were the equal of anything extracted from the old producing area in the eastern belt. Now the West Tonopah has entered an ore body in the trachyte away and beyond where a few years ago it was though impossible for anyone to think of finding values. The West Tonopah strike, if sustained by development, is going to be one of the greatest factors in adding to the wealth of the camp. In the first place the shaft is at a point fully a mile west of any known ore body, which establishes the moral certainty that the intervening acreage is underlain with the same formation and containing the same high values in the form of black sulphides streaks running from three to six inches wide. Assays have been had as high as $300, but the regular formation has not yet been reached and when it is entered it is certain there will be disclosed another treasure vault as rich as the famous Murray ledge of the Tonopah extension estate. Without reference to what will be brought out in the prosecution of the new work west of the West Tonopah shaft it stands to reason that there must be millions underlying the territory between the nearest orebody on the Tonopah Extension and the location of the latest find which may be gifted with spectacular features as sensational as any former discovery. Assuming that the West Tonopah ledge is nothing more than the average milling ore it means that the vein system of the district extends to indefinite distance on the western horizon. The Great Western mine, adjoining the scene of the latest surprise is likely to be one of the chief beneficiaries since that property is already opened to a depth that will save the company great expense in sinking and enable future energies to be directed toward picking up the continuation of the West Tonopah vein, which is reported to have a regular east and west strike. The Schwab interests have had an eye on that section for the past two or three years and it was only within the past 18 months that a deal of great magnitude was consummated taking in an area involving about three miles of patented claims. These properties are all likely to come in for a share of the good fortune of the West Tonopah which, at least, will have the indirect effect of stimulating intensive development. A powerful syndicate of Butte and Boston capitalists is interested in that quarter and the latest find will cause these gentlemen to hasten completion of the great cross-cut tunnel projected for the purpose of proving the existence of bodies of pay ore in the area lying between the Bonanza and the Great Western. The trend of development has been steadily toward the west and it would not be looking too far into the future to assert that years from now the much despised "flat" below the T. & G. railroad station will be as profitable an area as the flat from which Butte, Montana, is deriving so many millions every year.

Deep mining brings results in Tonopah. It is not a poor man's game, for it takes money and plenty of it, coupled with energy and experience, to go down a thousand feet to get below the cap rock before beginning the real work of prospecting. The fact that capital has been found for opening this virgin field is flattering to men whose genius foresaw the enrichment of that territory and were willing to stake their reputations on the result by inviting their friends and associates to join them in this great exploration.

THE FEAST OF BELSHAZZAR.

AND to it happened that in the days of Daniels, the prophet, there was a certain impious king who made a feast to a thousand of his lords and drank wine to them from the golden and silver vessels taken from the temples of the house of God which was in Jerusalem. In the same hour came forth the fingers of a man's hand and wrote over against the candlestick upon the plaster of the wall of the king's palace, and the king saw part of the hand that wrote. Then the king's countenance changed and his thoughts troubled him so that the joints of his loins were loosened and his knees smote one against another. The king called in soothsayers from Chaldea and astrologers and urged them to interpret the writings on the wall, promising the successful one that he should be rewarded with a chain of gold about his neck and be clothed in scarlet and be made third ruler of the kingdom. None of the wise men could interpret the signs until it came to Daniel's turn, and he began to enlighten the king on the meaning of the characters.

And this is the writing that was written: MENE, MENE, TEKEL, UPHARSIN. This is the interpretation of the thing: MENE—God hath numbered thy kingdom and finished it. TEKEL—Thou art weighed in the balance and found wanting. PERES—Thy kingdom is divided and given to the Medes and Persians.

In that night the king of the Chaldeans was slain. The Biblical prophecy of the downfall of the arrogant and haughty Belshazzar is more than likely to prove a prototype for the ruler of Germany, whose boundless ambition led him one time to believe he was in partnership with the Almighty in directing the affairs of the universe. The fatal day of May first may bring about his downfall and lead to the partition of his estates with an much thoroughness as the banishment of the Romanoff family from the throne of Russia. May first is regarded with keen anguish by the potentate who has wielded the bloody scepter over subjects who have bowed their necks to the yoke with absolute submission. This is the day when the proletariat of Europe threatens to rise in its might and sweep from the throne the last vestige of royalty remaining in Europe. The handwriting has appeared on the wall and the kaiser and his advisers are much concerned over the outcome of the day when Socialism and labor will meet on common ground with a demand that the war shall cease and that their wives and babes shall receive something more substantial than the crumbs that fall from the emperor's table. These people demand peace and that their remaining sons and brothers be restored to them from this unrighteous warfare against the entire world. The prophecy that spelled the downfall of the Babylonian monarch is as clearly written as one the day when the son of Nebuchadnezzar heard his doom pronounced by the prophet Daniel.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

(By Associated Press.) PITTSBURGH, April 28.—Cincinnati defeated Pittsburgh yesterday 5 to 3. Cold weather affected the pitchers and Toney and Miller each made a poor start. Cincinnati scored three in the second on singles by Wingo and Cueto, a pass and a double.

(By Associated Press.) PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—Philadelphia massed hits with bases on balls and an error and defeated New York 5 to 1 yesterday. Lavender was so effective that only two of the visitors reached third base. One of them was Hoelke, who prevented his team being shut out by making a home run.

(By Associated Press.) DETROIT, April 27.—Dauss held St. Louis to three hits yesterday and Detroit won 2 to 1. Wellman allowed only four hits but three of these were bunched in the fourth and produced two runs.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

(By Associated Press.) CHICAGO, April 28.—A balk called on Danforth in the ninth gave Cleveland the game with Chicago 2 to 1. With the bases full and two out and the call two and three on Graney, Danforth stopped long enough in his windup for Umpire Nallin to call a balk and Guisto scored the run which won the game.

MINER MEETS INSTANT DEATH AT RUTH MINE

Joe Drakolich, a miner, 26 years of age, was instantly killed in the Ruth mine Monday night. Drakolich with some of his fellow workmen, was engaged in an effort to get one of the mine cars back on the track. The drift was completely blocked with the car in its position standing across the track. One man crawled over the car and Drakolich attempted to follow him. In some way he struck his neck against the live trolley wire at the top of the drift and fell to the car dead. Drakolich is survived by a wife and two children who reside in Austria.—White Pine News.

MINES SHUT DOWN RATHER THAN PAY MEN'S DEMANDS

Complete operations at the Western Utah Mining company's property in the Deep Creek district, Utah, closed down because demands of 200 miners for higher wages were not granted. The United States government had expected to get molybdenum, tungsten and bismuth ores, used in the making of steel, from the Deep Creek district.
